

DAILY PRACTICE: DAY 20260630 - NEIGHBORHOODS, HOUSING TYPES, LIVING ENVIRONMENTS

(Level: Reading A2 - Writing A1)

Student Name:

Time Allowed: 50 mins

WARM-UP / KHỞI ĐỘNG

Answer the following questions in Vietnamese or English:

1. Bạn thích sống ở một căn hộ nhỏ tiện nghi ở trung tâm thành phố hay một ngôi nhà lớn ở ngoại ô hơn? Tại sao? (Do you prefer living in a small convenient apartment in the city center or a large house in the suburbs? Why?)
2. Bạn nghĩ những khó khăn lớn nhất khi sống trong một không gian hẹp (khoảng 15-20 mét vuông) là gì? (What do you think are the biggest challenges of living in a small space, about 15-20 square meters?)
3. Theo bạn, thế nào là một căn hộ có giá cả phải chăng (affordable)? (In your opinion, what is an affordable apartment?)

I. READING PASSAGE

Small Living Space Returns as Housing Prices Rise in US

As American cities face rising costs, small living spaces are returning to the housing market. These very small units, called micro-apartments, are becoming popular in cities like Seattle, Portland, and New York. Historically, these were known as single-room occupancy units, or SROs.

After World War II, many of these small rooms disappeared. Developers built larger homes, and people moved to the suburbs. Between the early 1900s and 2014, New York City lost about 70,000 single-room units. However, because of a housing shortage and expensive rents today, cities are investing in small spaces again.

A micro-apartment is a small, private space. In Seattle, some units measure only 17 square meters. While they do not have much room, they are affordable. For example, one unit rent is $900 per month, which is much lower than a standard studio apartment.

Experts say this type of housing is a good alternative to homelessness or overcrowded living conditions. It helps people who cannot afford normal apartments. A family in Seattle said that despite the small space, they love their home because of its proximity to family, food stores, and other neighborhood amenities. They also share a kitchen and laundry rooms with other residents to save money.

Source: Adapted from VOA Learning English - "Small Living Space Returns as Housing Prices Rise in US" (March 25, 2024)

URL: <https://learningenglish.voanews.com/a/small-living-space-returns-as-housing-prices-rise-in-us/7538202.html>

III. QUESTIONS FOR GRAMMAR (30 QUESTIONS)

Questions 27–36:

27. There _____ many new micro-apartments in Seattle today.
28. My apartment does not have _____ furniture.
29. Do you have _____ neighbors in your new building?
30. Rents in the city are significantly _____ than in the suburbs.

31. Residents _____ pay their rent on the first day of every month.
32. Right now, the city _____ a new housing project.
33. There are only _____ vacant apartments left in this area.
34. The woman _____ lives next door is very friendly. (*)
35. Dorms are cheap, _____ apartments offer more privacy. (*)
36. If you rent a micro-apartment, you _____ save a lot of money. (*)

Questions 37–46:

37. There _____ (is / are) some food in the shared kitchen.
38. I _____ (bought / buyed) a new table for my small room yesterday.
39. She _____ (does not have / not has) any roommates in her studio.
40. We _____ (lived / have lived) in the suburbs for five years before moving here.
41. How _____ (many / much) space do you have in your room?
42. The rent for this studio is twice as _____ (expensive / more expensive) as that one.
43. You _____ (must / should) not make noise after 10 PM. It is a strict rule.
44. This is the building _____ (where / which) my sister lives. (*)
45. If I _____ (had / have) enough money, I would rent a larger apartment. (*)
46. They _____ (have already signed / already signed) the contract. (*)

Questions 47–56:

47. Correct the error: My new apartment is more larger than my old one.
48. Correct the error: There is many people sharing the laundry room.
49. Correct the error: We don't have some chairs in our living area.
50. Correct the error: The new building is twice higher than the old one.
51. Correct the error: The rent is slightly cheap than last year.
52. Correct the error: I must to clean the shared kitchen today.
53. Correct the error: My uncle who is an architect designed this building. (*)
54. Correct the error: Renting is flexible. Buying a house, whereas, is a long-term commitment. (*)
55. Correct the error: I lived in this neighborhood since 2022. (*)
56. Combine the sentences using a relative clause: This is the micro-apartment. I rented it last month. (*)

IV. QUESTIONS FOR WRITING (5 TASKS)

Task 1: Word Ordering (Sắp xếp từ thành câu hoàn chỉnh)

Word Ordering: Sắp xếp từ thành câu.

a) apartment / a / live / small / in / I / .

Answer:

b) ten / has / building / floors / the /

Answer:

Task 2: Clause coordination with but/and

Sentence Completion: Điền thông tin cá nhân.

a) My bedroom is small, but it is _____ .

Answer:

b) Near my house, there is a _____

Answer:

Task 3: Simple description structure

Translation: Dịch câu sang tiếng Anh.

a) Phòng của tôi rất sạch sẽ và yên tĩnh.

Answer:

b) Có một chiếc giường và một chiếc bàn trong phòng.

Answer:

Task 4: Short Description (Mô tả ngắn)

Short Description: Viết 3 câu đơn giản.

Describe your home (type of house, number of rooms, your favorite spot).

Answer:

Task 5: Guided Email Invite (Viết email ngắn)

Guided Email Invite (*): Viết email ngắn.

Invite a friend to visit your new micro-apartment this Saturday. Mention what time to meet.

To: Subject:

.....
.....
.....
.....